
FOUND SOMETHING TO CURE ECZEMA

THIS IS HAT
MAKER'S DAY

Full Results in Complete Cure of
In a letter published in his index paper, Mr. F. O. Thompson of Elizabeth, N. J., states that he was a sufferer from eczema for fifteen years, and one day spoke about his trouble to Dr.
L. E. Todd. "Dr. Todd replied that he had something that would relieve it not permanently cure me," says Mr.
Thompson, "but after treatment for so many years I had grave doubts.
The doctor produced a box of posolam
and I promised to give it a faithful trial. I followed directions, and in two weeks time find myself entirely cured. The fifty cents I paid for the box was the best investment I ever made."

Not alone eczema but every surface
skin disease is permanently eradicated by posolam, itching being stopped at once.

Write to the Emergency Laboratory, 32 West Twenty-fifth street,
New York City, for a free trial packets of posolam. With this sample alone emphatic results will be cleared and pimples banished from the face.

All of Riker-Jaynes drug stores
and drug depots, Houghton & Dutton's, as well as all good druggists everywhere, always carry posolam in the gular sizes at 10 cents and 25.

More Americans are read in the news in Boston than any other paper.

NEW BEDFORD MILL WORKER LONG MISSING

This is the anniversary of the day that he was last seen, of course it is hard to get the exact date, but it is believed that five years ago today a Paris denied down the main street with a wide hat on. A crowd of small boys chased him, crying the old French equivalent of "give the bird," "get onto the guy" and similar expressions.

The last was seen by a Swiss who lived in Paris and told the place of the road up and the road which was the only kind of road known before.

It took nearly a hundred years for the last to reach England, which shows that the English were a sensible people in those days. Ever there they attribute the first hat to St. Elizabeth, though that is not what he was intended for.

The world began about 3200 years ago before our friend invented the hat.
The hat is not only a useful article, but it is a work of art. It is now, but it was not, but it never cost any more.

PITTSFIELD WOMAN ROBBED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, May 24.—While shopping in department store Mrs. J. E. Miller of Pittsfield, Mass., was robbed of $50 and valuable papers by pickpockets.

Mrs. Mary Barker.

AC'S AMERICAN TO FIND WOMAN

NEW BEDFORD, May 24.—Possibly of this city in a concerted effort to locate Mrs. Mary Barker of No. 443 Pleasant street, who has been missing from her home since Tuesday of last week and who is supposed to be wandering in a dazed state of mind.

Mrs. Barker was a woman in the Pierce mill up to two weeks ago, when she left her home, telling her mother, with whom she lived, that she was going to the Pierce mill for her pay.

For five successive days the police department has worked diligently to find the missing woman, but without success, and Deputy Chief Parker has quoted the BOSTON AMERICAN to assist the searchers by giving publicity to the woman's picture.

Mrs. Barker's description is as follows:
Age, forty-five years; height, five feet two inches; weight, 125 or 140 pounds; complexion, light; hair, dark and wavy; eyes, blue; nose, straight; mouth, small; teeth,
white; hair, black; hair, black; hair, black.

Only three other Sunday papers in the entire United States carry the circulation of the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.
Circulation, books of the SUNDAY
AMERICAN open to all.

PRINCES LOST BY THREE GIRLS

Boston, New York and Newport society is today deeply interested in the report from Rome that Miss Dorothy Deane, formerly of this city, has broken her engagement to Prince Radwell of Russia. Society, too, is awaiting the fact that Miss Dorothy's two equally beautiful sisters, Clayde and Kith, were engaged to princes and how their betrothals were broken by the parents of the young men.

The report from Rome is to the effect that Miss Dorothy finally announced the rupture of her betrothal only after the opposition of Prince Radwell's mother and her own unavailability.

Today society sees a strange farce parading the two beautiful American girls, all daughters of the late Edward Deane, Esq., of the late Admiral Charles H. Baldwin,
U. S. N., of Newport, R. I.

Prince Radwell is famous in his own name. His mother is worth $200,000.
He was married to Miss Deane in 1908.
The American girl accepted his position she left him no recourse but to follow the will of his mother.

DALMORES TO GET $200,000
FOR SINGING

By FREDERICK HOPPEL

The remarkable contract which Dippel of the Metropolitan, Boston and Chicago opera houses has just made with Charles H. W. Taylor, a broker gets $200,000 for four seasons with the American Opera company, demonstrates that buying Hammerstein out and adding his singers to the Metropolitan forces are two entirely different propositions. He earned only $500 a performance.

MAT'S LANDING, N. J., May 24.—The prosecution in the case of William Seyler, accused of the murder of Jane Adams on the "million dollar pier" February 24, was resumed at 10:45 o'clock today. The trial is being rushed to completion.

Given a staggering blow by the expert testimony of physicians, the defence of Seyler depends on Seyler's own story on the stand. His account of the fatal night in

But M. R. is insignificant, compared to the fact that singers got the French equivalent of the $100,000 from Hamstein, and the presumption was that they would get a lot more. It was not to be. The singers' agent got the money, but he was willing to take out salary. Instead he hypnotized Dippel into paying the money to the singers. The singers are not the greatest fear in the world or anywhere near it and the fact that they were paid $100,000 and a large salary indicates that the scheme of making opera singers accept less money was a failure.

JOINT RESOLUTION BY MR. KAHN

Authorizing the President to invite foreign countries to participate in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in nineteen hundred and fifteen, at San Francisco, California.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

That whenever it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the President of the United States that a suitable site has been selected, and that there is an actual, bona fide subscription in the sum of not less than five million dollars to the capital stock of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company, a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California, for the purpose of inaugurating, carrying forward, and holding an exposition at the city and county of San Francisco, California, on or about the first day of January, nineteen hundred and fifteen, to celebrate the completion and opening of the Panama Canal, and also the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the Pacific Ocean, the President of the United States be, and he hereby is, authorized and respectfully requested, by proclamation or in such manner as he may deem proper, to invite all foreign countries and nations to such proposed exposition, with a request that they participate in the same.

The above is a resolution introduced into Congress and an effort will be made to secure its passage within a few days.

From statements that have been made and from the splendid encouragement given to the California delegation that appeared in Washington week before last, and which was headed by the Governor of California, there is every reason to believe that the resolution will pass nearly unanimously the instant a hearing can be secured for it.

Speaker Joseph Cannon, who has a kindly side and an intense appreciation of California, will no doubt do all that is in his power to bring the matter up.

Everybody loves California that has ever been there, and those who haven't been there long to see the beautiful city on the Pacific as the good Mohammedan is said to yearn for his Paradise.

There will not be any opposition to San Francisco, excepting a little, perhaps, from some other city that is seeking help from the government to boom a fair. We say with confidence that there is no other city south or west of New York that has done anything to deserve the government's endorsement, and there is no other city that can so well take care of a gathering of this kind as San Francisco.

New Year's in San Francisco always opens pleasantly. The California early Spring is the most glorious weather in the world; sunshine, bracing air and a peculiarly delightful atmospheric sparkle that is rejuvenating and refreshing. Ice and snow are unknown, excepting that perhaps once in ten years a sprinkle of snow falls on the adjacent mountains. The wild flowers are out in all their glory. California's January is like the early May of the East and South.

San Francisco has been entirely rebuilt since the fire. It has more hotels and better hotel accommodations than any city in the country, excepting New York. Its living rates are extremely reasonable. As a starting point for all kinds of excursions it has no superior, and it can be reached by seven transcontinental railroads in less than four days from the extreme East and in less than three days from Chicago.

San Francisco is not asking a single dollar from the government. In four hours its citizens subscribed over four millions of dollars, made it up to five millions next day, and three days afterward incorporated with ten millions in cash actually paid in for the purpose of carrying on the fair.

All San Francisco asks is the resolution above, which extends a formal invitation to foreign governments, asks for the coming of foreign warships, and gives the fair such a national standing as it deserves and enables the people of San Francisco to add the welcome of their government to their own hospitality.

Other cities have had the help of San Francisco in other times, and loyal San Franciscans are confident that, with the exception of one or two cities where self-interest will dominate good judgment, the response to this resolution will be universal.

Will Congress be good enough to please bring the resolution up and pass it?

"Glass in His Appendix"

Many a Man Has Died of Appendicitis Caused by Glass Choked from So-called "Enamelled Ware"

Copyright, 1910, by American Journal Examiner

Many a piece of glass wanders into the human system, and causes trouble.

These pieces are usually so small that doctors operating do not notice them.

MUCH AMERICAN COOKING IS DONE IN SO-CALLED "ENAMELLED IRON WARE," and that enameled iron ware, often badly made and nearly always dangerous, has killed many citizens.

The so-called enameled on the inside of these cooking utensils is simply a thin coating of glass. Rough handling on the stove, stirring with heavy iron spoons, breaks off the glass enamel, and those that eat the food swallow tiny pieces of glass with it.

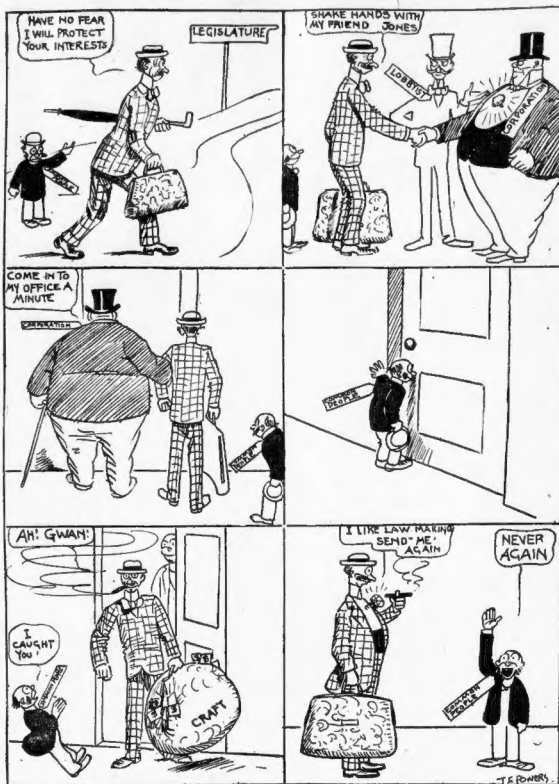

Every doctor knows that in France appendicitis is a disease almost unknown. There are probably ten cases of appendicitis in America for one case in France.

In France they do not use cooking utensils lined with dangerous glass. The French cooking ware, or "batterie de cuisine," is made of copper, solid, safe, thoroughly burnished every day. The Frenchman eats from food cooked in no fragile glass receptacle. His saucepan is of solid copper, and HE DOESN'T GET APPENDICITIS.

This fact is submitted to Dr. Feinberg and other American doctors, and to the Americans that eat food cooked in glass.

No man is born into the world whose work is not born with him. There is always work, And tools to work withal, for those who will; And blessed are the horny hands of toil.

The Ideal of American Womanhood

Julia Ward Howe, deploring the indifference of women of all ranks on the question of pure milk for babies, says with a sigh of regret: "I ought to be ten years younger."

So say we all of us. But perhaps we wouldn't say it just that way. Rather would we say that she ought to live in the full vigor of her mental activities for many years.

This noble and notable woman will be ninety-one years old next Friday. She is old, as we measure the span of human life, but she is as young in spirit and as strong in her enthusiasm as she was in the days when she labored so zealously for the abolition of slavery.

In the history of the world's work few women figure so prominently and so gloriously as Julia Ward Howe. She is the ideal of American womanhood. No one has done more than she to raise the standard of the American home.

Her personal life and character have been an inspiration to the women of this country. Her teachings, as preacher, lecturer and writer, have had a most wholesome effect upon American men, and her "Battle Hymn of the Republic" will be sung by American patriots until the end of time.

Mrs. Howe's place in American hearts and American history is secure. She need do nothing more of public service to hold it, and she might recline in peace and comfort upon her well-earned laurels in the serene confidence that the American people appreciate that she has contributed more than her full share of effort for the betterment of mankind.

But the character of this extraordinary and grand old woman—a composite of sterling moral fibre and kindly impulse, stirred by a mind that reasons clearly and a heart that beats strongly for humanity—will not, in all probability, permit of her retirement or diminish her public spirit or her interest in matters affecting the well-being of the people until physical incapacity has utterly overcome her.

It is because of that spirit that she is declaring: "I must do something for the babies. I deplore the apathy of the consumer in this great question. I do not know what to think of women in all ranks who are apparently indifferent to the milk fed their children. I am not surprised by it, because on numerous issues of importance I have met with it many, many times."

Would that there were more women of the Julia Ward Howe type! If there were there would be no doubt as to the settlement of the milk question. It would be settled speedily and it would be settled right.

Would that more of the men were imbued with the Julia Ward Howe spirit! If they were it would not be safe for milk contractors to admit that they had increased their capital two thousand per cent., and to insist that, "compared with the profits of the meat packers we are not doing well, we are not proud of our showing."

When Mrs. Howe speaks to the consumer of the milk and deplors the apathy on the vital question it is the voice of reason and experience and of the humanitarian addressing him.

It should rouse him from his lethargy.

Coaxing the Infants Into Line

A Kindergarten Proposition for New England Boosters

By MERTON E. BURKE

PUNCHED in the midst of New England's great industries—almost unnoticed in the jungles of commerce and labeled in the "yellow book" of wooden sales, boot and shoe factories, paper mills, leather tanneries and jewelry shops—there flourishes a great number of smaller industries which hold the unique and profitable position of being practically monopolies in their lines.

New England manufacturers, in fact, there is Worcester—"Heart of the Commonwealth"—and it is a suitable name in more ways than one—for Worcester is the home of Young Cupid, favored of St. Valentine. More "heart" than best as one "over their country" Worcester than in any other city in the world. For Worcester has the monopoly of the making of valentine, cupid's darts and loving hearts being shipped from this city to all parts of the world on the daily confessions of paper and ink.

Probably you've all noticed our good friend Mr. A. Mutt in the process of "dalling up." It is a safe proposition, which must himself couldn't lose, that the comb he uses was made in our own Leicester. The largest comb factories in the world are located in that place, and the combs are made in the same manner.

But of all the unusual monopolies in New England, Port, Maine, seems to have the winner. Up in Portland their manufacture nearly all the card money shades sold in the country.

GloUCESTER comes forward for recognition with their $5,000,000 cash cutting establishment. As like as not that salt fish you had for breakfast—or was it fish England towns and cities which have been called to my attention are surprising. In previous articles there have been mentioned New England's great industries and achievements and her undeveloped resources. I have spoken of her unexploited capacity in the textile industries, and manufacture of boots and shoes and the sub-urban trades, the manufacture of jewelry and the making of wood pulp; of her undeveloped resources for agriculture and fruit growing, and her marvelous opportunities lying idle in undeveloped water power.

It appears that our little campaign to bring New Englanders to a proper appreciation of New England's importance in the world's work has created a wide-spread desire to get on the "Boosters' bandwagon."

Officers of boards of trade, members of State groups, captains of industry, men of finance and State leaders of agriculture have contributed data that would belie the notion that little old New England—land of the Pilgrims, center of learning and literature, arbiter of right living, exponent of good government and master of manufactures—is the best place on earth.

From all over New England come stories of achievement. And in every town, infant industries have sprung up. Winchester why? Well, Winchester, with its surrounding communities, is the place where good old Santa Claus holds forth the year round. Toys, dolls, rocking horses, and all the other instruments of torture are turned out by the ton. A small army of men and women are employed converting the New Hampshire and Vermont forests into children's playthings. Winchester comes pretty near having a monopoly on her every day.

And so it goes. An enumeration of the millions invested in these minor, but nevertheless important industries, would read like a Wall Street bank report, a string of millions connected by dollar signs.

In comparison, some of these industries may seem trivial, when we consider the extent of our textile and shoe manufactures. In these smaller trades New England is supreme and has enough to show for it.

In these days of the revival of the flannel it is all-satisfying to be in the lead. And that is why New England manufactures are "boasting."

The "Boosters" are increasing in number in these smaller and "booster" towns. West Newton.

HE'S A BOOSTER

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Keep up your campaign of "boosting." The very trouble with New England is that there are too many dead ones and too many living ones.

You are right when you say that New Englanders are attracted too slow in promoting their own states.

Let's get out and "boost" for West Newton.
